One-day Virtual National Workshop on

“Competency Development of Teachers in Digital Milieu”

Date: 27/5/2020

The sudden outbreak of the pandemic caused by the COVID 19 has affected nearly all parts of the world. Due to COVID-19, about 90% of the world student population (UNESCO) is unable to attend the classes and is required to stay at home. Thousands of students of Netaji Subhas Open University (NSOU) are also locked down at their home. It has become a major challenge for the educational institutions, including those in the higher education sector, to go online and connect with the students—which is being seen as a not-so-conventional practice in most of the conventional HIEs. Like other OUs in the country, during this challenging time, NSOU has also taken a number of ICT initiatives in continuing its teaching-learning processes. Online interactions among the faculty and learners constitute a major component of these initiatives.

Most of the faculty members of the university are new to the ODL environment. Teaching/counselling outside the walls needs some expertise in the digital environment. Teaching outside the walls needs some expertise in the digital environment. To make the teaching effective, the centre for Quality Assurance (CIQA) is going to organize one-day workshop on “Competency Development of Teachers in Digital Milieu”.

N.B.: e-Certificate will be given to all the participants.
